Chairman of School Board Says Plain Things on School Inquiry.

NIGHT SCHOOL ENDS SESSION

Work Lauded by Governor and Superintendent of Education.

"Those teachers, those citizens and those patrons who desire to see the city schools run in accordance with the methods of twenty years ago may as well make up their minds right now that neither they nor their school board have the power to retard the progress of education. The modern spirit will prevail, and the steady march forward will continue, despite every attempt to stay it."

Thus spoke Charles Hutzler, chairman of the City School Board, in an address last night at the closing exercises of the night school department of the John Marshall High School. The sentiment was loudly applauded by the 500 persons who were gathered in the High School auditorium, and the speaker took the opportunity to say a few more plain things touching the school investigations now in progress.

The people who are loudest in their condemnation of the methods of teaching now in force, he said, and the very thing who are never seen at occasions of this kind, are the ones who are genuinely enough interested to familiarize themselves with what the schools are doing.

Investigating Committee Absent. Mr. Hutzler commented significantly upon the fact that, despite the fire that is being directed at what are designated as new-fangled studies, such as manual training and other utilitarian courses, not a single member of the Council School Investigating Committee was present at the exercises and exhibit of that part of the High School which is most distinctly vocational.

"We invite the investigating committee of the City Council to be present," he said, "but I don't think I see a single member of it in the hall. We expected more people to come out for this occasion than to come, but we certainly had a right to expect the presence of the committee which is charged with inquiring into local school conditions."

Vocational Idea Defended. Superintendent J. A. C. Chandler, of the city schools, presided over the exercises and introduced the speaker. Governor William Hodges Mann spoke enthusiastically of the work of the night school and the opportunity it afforded for those whose work prohibits attendance upon the day schools to learn those things which are designed to help them in earning a livelihood.

Superintendent of Public Instruction J. D. Eggleston thought that the night

To Absorb Freckles and Other Blemishes

Every spring I receive many letters from girls seeking some reliable recipe for removing freckles. Last year I edited many to try my "Freckle Remover." Such favorable results were reported that this season I have recommended nothing else for the purpose. The way is to possess unusual properties which completely absorb every freckle, with no harmful effect. The complexion improves wonderfully, becoming as soft as a rose petal, and as delicately tinted.

Get an ounce of macerated wax at any drugstore, spread a thin layer of it over the face every night, then wash, washing this off in the morning. For rough, red skin, sallowness, blackheads, pimples, and all cutaneous blemishes, this treatment is superior to any that has ever come under my observation.

Springtime also brings wrinkles to many sensitive skins that are much exposed to winds and changing temperatures. Pour a half pint witch hazel into a basin, then an ounce of Rose Water. Dip a soft cloth in the mixture, wring it out, and rub it over the face. The effect on a wrinkled skin is remarkable—Marie Demarest, in Ladies' Favorite Magazine.

school just closing for the year offered a splendid example of what can be accomplished with a small expenditure and a big idea. He was strongly in favor of that kind of education which has a utilitarian as well as a cultural purpose.

"I do not believe, as some do, that culture is ever endangered by industrial education," said Mr. Eggleston. "I am a believer in education with a purpose. I believe that the night school which is just closing such a successful year will prove to be the germ of the kind of education that this city, as well as other cities, will eventually adopt. Cincinnati is already working out the plan for this industrial education, and the whole world is watching the experiment."

Ask That School Be Continued. Principal W. C. Locker spoke optimistically of the outlook and told of the regret expressed by a large number of the pupils that the school was closing for the year. Fully 25 per cent. of the pupils, he said, had asked that the courses be continued through the summer. He announced that the night school will be reopened next October. The classes in stenography and bookkeeping will continue until the close of the regular term of the day department.

The following received certificates in bookkeeping: David Mayer, Frank Disse, Wilbur Gray, Louis Bloomberg, and Miss Camilla Dickerson. In the evening the High School was exhibited numerous specimens of the work of the classes in cooking, sewing, millinery, bookkeeping and stenography.

TO ENLARGE HOSPITAL

Campaign for $30,000 Planned by Colored Citizens.

A campaign to raise $30,000 to be used for the purpose of constructing an annex will be launched next Tuesday by the board of directors of the Richmond Hospital and Medical School, a local institution conducted solely for the benefit of colored people.

The present quarters of the hospital have become too limited, and for some time it has been overcrowded, making an additional building a necessity.

The directors have not yet announced along what lines they will conduct their campaign, but all arrangements will be completed this week. It is expected that the hospital, with a training school for nurses, was founded here by several colored physicians in 1902, and has met with marked success.

SOME COAL!

Cheapeake and Ohio Brings a Few Records in Handling Fuel.

The month just past was a record-breaker for the Cheapeake and Ohio Railway in the amount of coal handled. The road loaded 1,000,000 tons of coal during April—200,000 tons more than had ever been loaded before in the history of the country. The previous record-breaking month was January, 1911. During the April past, the Cheapeake and Ohio dumped into vessels at Newport News 475,000 tons of coal. This was 15,000 tons more than had ever been dumped before by this road, the best previous month being September, 1909.

GRAND JURY TO PROBE ELECTION

Legal Investigation to Be Made of Irregularities at Second Jefferson Precinct.

WILL NOT AFFECT THE RESULT

Even Were Precinct Thrown Out the List of Winners Would Remain the Same.

Members of the City Democratic Committee stated last night that the alleged irregularities in handling ballots in the vicinity of the Second Jefferson Precinct in last Tuesday's election would be placed before the grand jury on next Monday. If necessary, members of the committee are prepared to produce all books and papers in their possession and to give the members of the grand jury such information as will assist in getting at the bottom of the situation. It is conceded that a marked and torn ballot was in the hands of T. W. Folkes, junior, of the First Regiment Armory, a worker in that precinct in the interest of J. B. Welch, elected to the Common Council, and it is charged by the friends of Messrs. Mills and Wiltshire that the ballot was being used to vote "repeaters." The trick, if it was used, is an old one, known to many well politicians. The professional worker appears in some illegal manner a ballot and marks it properly for those candidates for whom he is working. The marked slip is then put in the hands of the willing voter, who consents to be instructed in preparing his ballot, with or without compensation. The voter merely secures from the judges of election a new official ballot, votes the marked slip, and returns the new ballot to his prompter for use again. Mr. Folkes has denied the use of any such means in this instance. He cannot recall from whom he received the ballot, but says he tore away the upper portion, with the name of Mayor Richardson, and merely used the list of candidates for Council as a slate to guide voters whom he had prompted.

Demand Clean Elections.

An influential member of the City Committee said last night that he believed the committee was a unit in demanding clean elections, and that, so far as he had talked with his associates, every one of them favored the most rigid grand jury investigation, with the prosecution of any parties who may be found guilty to the full extent of the law. Reports are current that the number of ballots at other precincts will not count up correctly, and that as many as a half-dozen ballots were being used in the committee room when the returns came in, merely as lists of candidates, with a memorandum of the vote cast. Any such use of a printed ballot or the taking of one away from an election precinct, for any purpose whatever, is illegal, and subjects the holder of it to heavy fine. Mr. Folkes is junior of the First Regiment Armory, and has been for many years a city employee. His interest in the candidacy of Mr. Welch, a clerk in the office of the City Treasurer, as against Captain Morgan E. Mills and Mr. Wiltshire, is shown by the statement that during the day he made a bet with W. P. Leaman of $200 that Mills would not beat Welch on the Jefferson Ward ticket. The returns place Mr. Mills in third place and Mr. Welch in fifth, so that Mr. Folkes lost his bet. Mr. Leaman admitted the bet and the fact that he had won.

No Recount Asked For.

In view of the difference between the vote cast for Mr. Welch, 916 ballots, and that for Frank L. Butler, the next lower man on the ticket, who received 210 votes, or 487 less, it is not anticipated that there will be any demand for a recount or any contest before the City Democratic Committee. The further proceedings in regard to the alleged irregularities must be at the hands of the grand jury.

The first information in regard to the use of an illegal ballot outside of the Second Jefferson Precinct came to the attention of the City Committee in a protest from Captain Mills, and was later sustained by the statements of the election officers. The ballot is in the hands of Ward Superintendent E. C. Hicks, who is prepared to place it before the grand jury when called upon.

S. A. L. Earnings.

Seaboard Air Line Railway's approximate gross earnings follow: Third week April, 1912, $472,945; 1911, $517,782; increase, $44,837. July 1 to April 22, 1912, $18,703,125; 1911, $17,789,439; increase, $913,685.

RECEIPTS SHOW GAIN

Mission Honored Closes Books After Successful Year.

The Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention closed its fiscal year yesterday. Though the board has encountered more than usual difficulties during the twelve months just passed, the reports show larger receipts than for any year in its history, making a net gain of about $70,000. While the year closes with a debt of $56,000, conditions are far better than last year, when the debt was reported at $90,000. Virginia led all the States with a subscription amounting to nearly $30,000.

In its spiritual work, the board has been as successful as in its finances, though it has been retarded in many ways throughout this country, and by war, famine and general unrest in foreign countries. Despite these troubles, a gain of about 710 converts was reported in foreign lands.
